

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION.

Vol. XVIII.

ATLANTA, GA., THURSDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 19, 1885.

PRICE FIVE CENTS.

ATTORNEYS AND COUNSELORS
Samuel Weil, Adolph Brant, William Brandt, Attorneys and Counselors
Will practice in state and federal courts, and in all litigation given to all business entrusted to them.

M. I. FREUDENTHAL, M. D., SPECIALIST
German and French Physician No 1658.
Portico, 201 Walton st., next door to the Columbia hotel. Patients who may desire can see the physician. Correspondence Confidential.
Atlanta, Georgia. 9 to 12 a. m.; 1 to 5 p. m.

THOMAS L. BISHOP, ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Room 2, Brown Block,
28 Broad street, Atlanta, Ga.

D. C. MORELAND,
Druggists' Pharmacy.
Office hours 8 A. M. to 12:30.
(P. M. 2:30 to 5:30).

W. M. HILL, ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Office 415 Broadstreet, Atlanta, Ga.

N. J. & T. A. HAMMOND,
Attorneys and Counselors at Law,
101 Alabama street,
T. A. Hammond, Jr., Commissioner for taking depositions in Fulton County.

S. P. GILBERT, C. M. BRANDON
Attorneys at Law,
101 Walton street.

S. A. REED, ATTORNEY AT LAW,
101 Walton street,
Office with Judge Turner. Also Office over West
Union Telegraph. Office Mulberry Street.

SUBURBAN AND FARM PROPERTY
S. M. WOOD,
Real Estate Agent,
Decatur, Ga.

Correspondence solicited.

H. L. KIMBALL, L. B. WHEELER & CO.,
Architects,
Construction Building.

L. C. BOYD, James G. Pease
YOLZ & PARKS, Attorneys at Law,
11 Dawson, Georgia.

WILL GIVE IMMEDIATE ATTENTION TO ALL BUSINESS introduced to them.

JOHN L. TAYLOR, Attorney at Law,
Metropolitan, Ga.

J. A. JENKINS, Attorney and Counselor at Law,
Room 405 Marlboro street, Atlanta, Ga.

J. A. LAWRENCE, Attorney at Law,
264 Capitol Building, Atlanta, Ga.

Correspondence solicited.

MEANS' HIGH SCHOOL
10 NORTH FORSYTH STREET, Atlanta, Ga.

Instruction thorough and practical. For catalog address: T. M. MEANS.

W. A. HOGGARD & MARTIN, Lawyer,
12 Peachtree Street, Atlanta, Ga. Telephone 111.

W. E. ATKINSON, Attorney at Law,
Metropolitan, Ga.

A. E. WRIGHT, MAX MYERSHARD, ROBERT WRIGHT,
WRIGHT, MYERSHARD & WRIGHT,
Attorneys at Law,
100 Peachtree Street, Atlanta, Ga.

Correspondence solicited.

EDWARD G. LIND, F. A. L. A.,
Architect and Superintendent,
Whitehall street, over Schenck's Drug Store.

E. F. FACHOLZ, Contractor and Builder,
For Wood and Brick Buildings.

Office: Room No. 12 Fifteen Building, Atlanta, Ga.

Take the Elevator.

FAY & EICHBERG
ARCHITECTS.

18 SOUTH BROAD STREET,
ATLANTA, GA.

J. S. WOOD & BRO.
COTTON FACTORS

— AND —

General Commission Merchants

74 Bay Street, Savannah, Ga.

Proprietors of J. S. Wood & Bro's Ammunition

Dressed Bone and dealers in Wool and Fertilizers

sep-13m the sun tues

D. H. DOUGHERTY & CO.

Look out for bargains in holiday goods this week, as we expect some of the cheapest and handsomest ever shown in the city.

STYLISH, BUT TREACHEROUS.

Atlanta Rubber Comp'y

26 MARIETTA ST., ATLANTA, GA.

The Recognized Leader in the Southern States

A House which Defeats Competition.

RUBBER BELTING,
LEATHER BELTING, ETC.

RUBBER CLOTHING AND GEAR,
FOR LADIES AND GENTS,

BOOTS AND SHOES,
SPORTSMEN'S GOODS.

RUBBER TOYS, every description.

DRUGGISTS' SUPPLIES,

And, in fact, everything found in a first-class

Bubber House. Orders from a distance receive prompt attention.

Price List sent upon application.

ANGRY FRENCH CANADIANS.

They are still in a Tumult over Riel's Execution.

Mrs. Mary E. Welch, Teacher of Domestic

Economy at the Iowa State Agricultural College, says:

"I can unhesitatingly command the Charles Oak Range, with the wonderful wire gauge oven door, made by the Excelsior Manufacturing Co., of St. Louis, and invented by Mr. Giles F. Filley, as the best cooking apparatus within my knowledge, and one that will not fail in any respect to give the fullest satisfaction to all who use it."

MODERN JUDAISM.

Christian Sunday Likely to be Adopted in Time.

ATLANTA, November 18. At the session of the annual Rabbinical convention of the United Hebrew church today, the question of whether observance was discussed at some length, and a resolution was unanimously passed, declaring that there is nothing in the Jewish religion or its law to prevent a introduction of Sunday services in places where the Sabbath is observed. The question appears or is felt. In the preamble to the resolution, the importance of maintaining the historical Sabbath as a bond with the people of Israel was held up as a symbol of the unity of Judaism that is to be recognized. After recommending the form of the sabbath for the propagation of reformed Jewish doctrines among the classes, the convention adjourned to meet at Cincinnati on the first Monday of December.

Tariff Revision Discussed.

ATLANTA, November 18. The queen today signed a proclamation dissolving parliament, writing it in a bold, distinct hand, at the top of a broad parchment. A special issue of the Gazette containing the proclamation was issued tonight. Write for the new election to be held on Monday.

Mr. Bright Speaks.

ATLANTA, November 18. Mr. Bright speaking at Birmingham last night said he thought that the day of great and powerful estates was past. He favored a wide distribution of the land, the abolition of the game laws and more equal taxation.

Subscriptions for Gauleston.

ATLANTA, November 8. The total of the subscriptions tonight for the benefit of the slaves is $35,000 have been paid in and some over $30,000 paid out to 613 applicants.

CHECKING CLEVELAND.

THE GAME OF EX-CHIEF JUSTICE

VINCENT.

PHILADELPHIA, November 18.—The receiving vault of the Monument cemetery was the scene this morning of an autopsy on the body of Dr. Vincent, Ex-Chief Justice of New Mexico. The body was held in the vault by the family, in order to determine the cause of death, it being different from that held by Dr. Engle's theory of the death. The autopsy was held by Dr. Engle, the physician to the family, and Dr. Engle believed that the object of the ex-chief justice's visit to the national capital is to present the confirmation of his successor to the Senate. Dr. Engle's theory was that the death had been caused by the disease known as thrombosis, which is a gathering of the thrombus, or a clot of blood in one of the arteries, thus blocking the free circulation of blood. Dr. Engle believed that he was the cause of the death, and always contended that it was the formation of one of the thrombi in the brain that was the primary cause of the trouble, and when assuming charge of the case, so confident was he of this fact that he could beat McCullough, and it was given to him to be a trial lawyer, and a prominent manufacturer and protectionist democrat, who just returned from a trip to Washington of the east, and has, through the influence of his friends, excited an opposition to his predecessor's action in this matter, which, it is claimed, will prevent the confirmation of his successor when his name is presented to the Senate. Senator Calloway, who performed the autopsy, Dr. A. E. Rausch, also to assist him; C. K. Mills, and among other medical men were Dr. Walter E. Peck, family physician; Professor Frank Woodward, Dr. J. C. Gruel, Dr. Theodore Gruel, Dr. J. H. Lloyd, Dr. W. R. Blackwood, neurologist of the Presbyterian hospital; Dr. A. D. Bummel, of the Medical Bulletin; Dr. H. H. Hardy, surgeon in charge of the Marine Hospital Service; Dr. E. C. Bernhardy. The body was removed from the casket shortly after 10 o'clock and placed on an operating table in the vault, ready for the autopsy. The body was found to be in a most excellent state of preservation, not the least sign of decay being visible. The physicians found that the Servians account is from Tarragona: The following Servian account is from Tarragona: The Bulgarians found the Bulgarians of unexpected strength at Silvianopolis. The Servians, after a hard fight, were repulsed, fighting for eight hours. The Bulgarians found the Servian right wing back at the point of the bayonet for several kilometers, with great losses.

It is reported that the Servians fired upon the Bulgarian ambulances. A militia force of 2,000 men made a successful sortie in the road to Silvianopolis, capturing 150 prisoners. The Servians retreated in disorder to Eutich, Smolach and Tuden. The Bulgarians followed the Servians through Silvianopolis, capturing 1,000 men, and the Bulgarians pursued them to Eutich, Smolach and Tuden.

Among the physicians present were Dr. Engle, Dr. Vincent, Dr. C. K. Mills, and among other medical men were Dr. Walter E. Peck, family physician; Professor Frank Woodward, Dr. J. C. Gruel, Dr. Theodore Gruel, Dr. J. H. Lloyd, Dr. W. R. Blackwood, neurologist of the Presbyterian hospital; Dr. A. D. Bummel, of the Medical Bulletin; Dr. H. H. Hardy, surgeon in charge of the Marine Hospital Service; Dr. E. C. Bernhardy. The body was removed from the casket shortly after 10 o'clock and placed on an operating table in the vault, ready for the autopsy. The body was found to be in a most excellent state of preservation, not the least sign of decay being visible. The physicians found that the Servians account is from Tarragona: The Bulgarians found the Bulgarians of unexpected strength at Silvianopolis. The Servians, after a hard fight, were repulsed, fighting for eight hours. The Bulgarians found the Servian right wing back at the point of the bayonet for several kilometers, with great losses.

It is reported that the Servians fired upon the Bulgarian ambulances. A militia force of 2,000 men made a successful sortie in the road to Silvianopolis, capturing 150 prisoners. The Servians retreated in disorder to Eutich, Smolach and Tuden.

Among the physicians present were Dr. Engle, Dr. Vincent, Dr. C. K. Mills, and among other medical men were Dr. Walter E. Peck, family physician; Professor Frank Woodward, Dr. J. C. Gruel, Dr. Theodore Gruel, Dr. J. H. Lloyd, Dr. W. R. Blackwood, neurologist of the Presbyterian hospital; Dr. A. D. Bummel, of the Medical Bulletin; Dr. H. H. Hardy, surgeon in charge of the Marine Hospital Service; Dr. E. C. Bernhardy. The body was removed from the casket shortly after 10 o'clock and placed on an operating table in the vault, ready for the autopsy. The body was found to be in a most excellent state of preservation, not the least sign of decay being visible. The physicians found that the Servians account is from Tarragona: The Bulgarians found the Bulgarians of unexpected strength at Silvianopolis. The Servians, after a hard fight, were repulsed, fighting for eight hours. The Bulgarians found the Servian right wing back at the point of the bayonet for several kilometers, with great losses.

It is reported that the Servians fired upon the Bulgarian ambulances. A militia force of 2,000 men made a successful sortie in the road to Silvianopolis, capturing 150 prisoners. The Servians retreated in disorder to Eutich, Smolach and Tuden.

Among the physicians present were Dr. Engle, Dr. Vincent, Dr. C. K. Mills, and among other medical men were Dr. Walter E. Peck, family physician; Professor Frank Woodward, Dr. J. C. Gruel, Dr. Theodore Gruel, Dr. J. H. Lloyd, Dr. W. R. Blackwood, neurologist of the Presbyterian hospital; Dr. A. D. Bummel, of the Medical Bulletin; Dr. H. H. Hardy, surgeon in charge of the Marine Hospital Service; Dr. E. C. Bernhardy. The body was removed from the casket shortly after 10 o'clock and placed on an operating table in the vault, ready for the autopsy. The body was found to be in a most excellent state of preservation, not the least sign of decay being visible. The physicians found that the Servians account is from Tarragona: The Bulgarians found the Bulgarians of unexpected strength at Silvianopolis. The Servians, after a hard fight, were repulsed, fighting for eight hours. The Bulgarians found the Servian right wing back at the point of the bayonet for several kilometers, with great losses.

It is reported that the Servians fired upon the Bulgarian ambulances. A militia force of 2,000 men made a successful sortie in the road to Silvianopolis, capturing 150 prisoners. The Servians retreated in disorder to Eutich, Smolach and Tuden.

Among the physicians present were Dr. Engle, Dr. Vincent, Dr. C. K. Mills, and among other medical men were Dr. Walter E. Peck, family physician; Professor Frank Woodward, Dr. J. C. Gruel, Dr. Theodore Gruel, Dr. J. H. Lloyd, Dr. W. R. Blackwood, neurologist of the Presbyterian hospital; Dr. A. D. Bummel, of the Medical Bulletin; Dr. H. H. Hardy, surgeon in charge of the Marine Hospital Service; Dr. E. C. Bernhardy. The body was removed from the casket shortly after 10 o'clock and placed on an operating table in the vault, ready for the autopsy. The body was found to be in a most excellent state of preservation, not the least sign of decay being visible. The physicians found that the Servians account is from Tarragona: The Bulgarians found the Bulgarians of unexpected strength at Silvianopolis. The Servians, after a hard fight, were repulsed, fighting for eight hours. The Bulgarians found the Servian right wing back at the point of the bayonet for several kilometers, with great losses.

It is reported that the Servians fired upon the Bulgarian ambulances. A militia force of 2,000 men made a successful sortie in the road to Silvianopolis, capturing 150 prisoners. The Servians retreated in disorder to Eutich, Smolach and Tuden.

Among the physicians present were Dr. Engle, Dr. Vincent, Dr. C. K. Mills, and among other medical men were Dr. Walter E. Peck, family physician; Professor Frank Woodward, Dr. J. C. Gruel, Dr. Theodore Gruel, Dr. J. H. Lloyd, Dr. W. R. Blackwood, neurologist of the Presbyterian hospital; Dr. A. D. Bummel, of the Medical Bulletin; Dr. H. H. Hardy, surgeon in charge of the Marine Hospital Service; Dr. E. C. Bernhardy. The body was removed from the casket shortly after 10 o'clock and placed on an operating table in the vault, ready for the autopsy. The body was found to be in a most excellent state of preservation, not the least sign of decay being visible. The physicians found that the Servians account is from Tarragona: The Bulgarians found the Bulgarians of unexpected strength at Silvianopolis. The Servians, after a hard fight, were repulsed, fighting for eight hours. The Bulgarians found the Servian right wing back at the point of the bayonet for several kilometers, with great losses.

It is reported that the Servians fired upon the Bulgarian ambulances. A militia force of 2,000 men made a successful sortie in the road to Silvianopolis, capturing 150 prisoners. The Servians retreated in disorder to Eutich, Smolach and Tuden.

Among the physicians present were Dr. Engle, Dr. Vincent, Dr. C. K. Mills, and among other medical men were Dr. Walter E. Peck, family physician; Professor Frank Woodward, Dr. J. C. Gruel, Dr. Theodore Gruel, Dr. J. H. Lloyd, Dr. W. R. Blackwood, neurologist of the Presbyterian hospital; Dr. A. D. Bummel, of the Medical Bulletin; Dr. H. H. Hardy, surgeon in charge of the Marine Hospital Service; Dr. E. C. Bernhardy. The body was removed from the casket shortly after 10 o'clock and placed on an operating table in the vault, ready for the autopsy. The body was found to be in a most excellent state of preservation, not the least sign of decay being visible. The physicians found that the Servians account is from Tarragona: The Bulgarians found the Bulgarians of unexpected strength at Silvianopolis. The Servians, after a hard fight, were repulsed, fighting for eight hours. The Bulgarians found the Servian right wing back at the point of the bayonet for several kilometers, with great losses.

It is reported that the Servians fired upon the Bulgarian ambulances. A militia force of 2,000 men made a successful sortie in the road to Silvianopolis, capturing 150 prisoners. The Servians retreated in disorder to Eutich, Smolach and Tuden.

Among the physicians present were Dr. Engle, Dr. Vincent, Dr. C. K. Mills, and among other medical men were Dr. Walter E. Peck, family physician; Professor Frank Woodward, Dr. J. C. Gruel, Dr. Theodore Gruel, Dr. J. H. Lloyd, Dr. W. R. Blackwood, neurologist of the Presbyterian hospital; Dr. A. D. Bummel, of the Medical Bulletin; Dr. H. H. Hardy, surgeon in charge of the Marine Hospital Service; Dr. E. C. Bernhardy. The body was removed from the casket shortly after 10 o'clock and placed on an operating table in the vault, ready for the autopsy. The body was found to be in a most excellent state of preservation, not the least sign of decay being visible. The physicians found that the Servians account is from Tarragona: The Bulgarians found the Bulgarians of unexpected strength at Silvianopolis. The Servians, after a hard fight, were repulsed, fighting for eight hours. The Bulgarians found the Servian right wing back at the point of the bayonet for several kilometers, with great losses.

THE NEWS IN MACON.

RECORD OF YESTERDAY'S EVENTS
IN THE CENTRAL CITY.A Negro's Fugitive Number of Obtaining Money
Convinced Sent to Prison at Albany, N.Y.
The Treasurer of a Colored Society is Trouble—The Irish-Americans.

MACON, November 18.—[Special.]—Yesterday morning Richard Cochran, a colored man, went to Mrs. E. C. Quirkler, the colored woman, at the office of the Quirkler & Wilson sewing machine company, and in a most sorrowful manner told her of the death of a former favorite servant and asked for a dollar to help bury the deceased. Mrs. Quirkler, without hesitating gave him the money and he departed, but later in the day she was astonished to see walk into the office the servant represented to be dead. A warrant was then issued, under which Richard was arrested by Officer Fenwell, who placed him in jail.

Carried to Albany.

MACON, November 18.—[Special.]—Last night United States Deputy Marshal King left for Albany, New York, having in charge Sam Morgan and Everett Farmer, where they will serve one year in prison, after which they will be convicted under a charge of perjury.

Gone to Canada.

MACON, November 18.—[Special.]—Patience Ball, colored, is the treasurer, or treasurer, of a colored society known as the Champions of Distress. She had in her possession $40 of the funds of the society, but loaned it to her husband, whose whereabouts are not known, he having disappeared suddenly and mysteriously. Today a number of the members of the society, and an attorney, W. A. Cherry, obtained a warrant for the arrest of Patience. It is regarded as an honest woman, and she is popular, and she has shown her people that she is innocent of fraud.

Patti Ross Didn't Play.

MACON, Ga., November 18.—[Special.]—The Patti Ross company did not appear here tonight as was expected. The company played in Savannah last night, but Patti Ross was quite unwell and her physician advised her to rest tonight. She and her company are now at Brown's hotel and will appear tomorrow night in the comedy Bob.

The Irish-American Society.

MACON, November 18.—[Special.]—An interests meeting of the Irish-American society was held tonight in the club rooms on Mulberry street. It was the regular bi-monthly meeting, and an interesting literary and musical programme was rendered. The society is composed of the best men in the city, and the meeting was well attended by our people, that she is innocent of fraud.

Well Received.

MACON, November 18.—[Special.]—Governor McDaniels' appointment of Colonel George S. Jones to represent the sixth congressional district at the harbor improvement convention is well received in Macon, and the prevailing comment is that no better appointment could have been made. The convention meets in Savannah on the 21st instant.

The Government Boats.

MACON, November 18.—[Special.]—The government boats lately engaged in clearing the channels of the Oconee, Ocmulgee and Altamaha rivers, are now laying at the landings in Hawkinsville. It is said that were it not for the railroad bridge at Hawkinsville, large boats could come within a mile of the river. The bridge is obstructed in several places by trees which have fallen into the water, and the boats could not pass. The first boat to pass through the bridge will come to Macon at almost any season of the year. The chief difficulty seems to be the fact that the bridge is too low to pass under. By the river, Hawkinsville is three hundred miles from Macon, while Brunswick is fully eight hundred miles away.

Recorder's Court.

MACON, November 18.—[Special.]—There were only a few cases for trial at the recorder's court this morning. William Morris and John Dugay were up for trial. Thomas Powers was up for disorderly conduct, and Waino Lane was up for fighting. They were all dismissed.

Guilt and Not Guilt.

MACON, November 18.—[Special.]—Macon has a man who deals in furniture and at the same time carries on an undertaking business. Your correspondent was in his establishment this morning and inquired for news.

"There are no news," said he, "and there hasn't been any for several days; there is absolutely nothing happening."

Your correspondent asked something about what was the good news.

"If you mean in the undertaking line," said he, "it hasn't been as bad as it is at present I have been in that business in Macon for a number of years, but I have had a good deal of time when the death rate was as low as it is now, and it was not the furniture trade which was up, it was the undertaking business."

By the river, Hawkinsville is three hundred miles from Macon, while Brunswick is fully eight hundred miles away.

Brief Mention.

MACON, November 18.—[Special.]—A handsome sign now adorns the front of the Southern Trust Building.

East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad engine number 103, which has just been overhauled at the works, arrived here today and will be used on the Brunswick division of the road.

A band of young musicians appeared in the academy of music tonight in the comedy entitled "Bob."

On Friday evening next the Floyd Rifles will have a dance at their armory. The Rifles will be in the city.

Judge W. D. Nottingham, Hon. Miller Gordon and Mr. W. H. Moore were in the city.

Messrs. Emile and Emanuel Sommer and Mr. Jeff D. Houser, of Fort Valley, were here.

In this writing, there is every indication of rain and it is hoped that it will come soon to settle the dust which is now so troublesome if it ever gets to the ground.

Mr. T. J. Coker, of Perry, is in the city today.

For the past week there has been a dearth of news in the city. There has been the fewest number of interesting happenings.

The Southwestern accommodation train arrived one hour late this morning.

Protecting Lady Clerks.

SAVANNAH, Ga., November 18.—[Special.]—Rev. Charles H. Strong, rector of St. John's church, was summoned today to Atlanta to attend the court investigation. His pupil will be filled Sunday by Dr. Beets, of St. Louis, who lectures here Friday night under the auspices of the land league.

COLUMBUS CHRONICLES.

Arrest of a Forger—Marriage of a Legislator—Other Notes.

COLUMBUS, Ga., November 18.—[Special.]—W. J. Kello, the white man arrested at Seale for forgery was brought to this city and lodged in jail by Sheriff Abney today. He will have a preliminary trial tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock, before Justice Wynn. Kelly forged the signature of Hiram Brox, of Seale, to an order on George P. Swift & Son, of this city, for $20.

Alex Wilson, colored, fell from the steps leading to the kitchen of the Rankin house today. He was picked up in an unconscious condition, but was not seriously hurt. Wilson was drunk at Leesburg, a few days ago.

Last Saturday while an old man by the name of Worthington, and his son-in-law, were out hunting in Gwinnett county, the premature discharge of a gun inflicted a severe wound in the arm of the old man, breaking the bone of the forearm. It is a compound, or compound, wound, but at least accounts he was not seriously hurt.

Sheriff of Lee, of course, seems to have got into trouble in the case the state has against him. Salter was tried for voluntarily letting prisoners escape. At this trial Lee Superior court last Saturday he was found guilty, but as yet the court has not sentenced him. The limit for the offense is seven years.

Mr. W. P. Dunn, of Buena Vista, and Miss Annie Tillmon, of this city, were married today at 1 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Walker Lewis, at the residence of W. L. Tillmon, the white bride. Judge Butt is the representative of Marion county in the legislature, and a prominent lawyer. The bride is an accomplished and estimable young lady. They left soon after the ceremony on a bridal tour, which will extend into Mississippi.

Mr. W. H. Harris, the new pastor of the First Baptist church, reached the city tonight with his family. They were met at the depot by a committee from the church and escorted to the Rankin house, where they will remain until their residence is prepared for them.

Henry Smith and Frank Huckabee, two white men living at the foot of Rock Hill, had a difficulty today in which Huckabee was cut on the back and face. Smith and Huckabee are the two brothers-in-law. Huckabee is the son of his wife and she shot her brother to protect her.

An entertainment was given at the residence of Mr. D. E. Williams tonight for the benefit of the Presbyterian church. It was a success in every respect.

MARRIAGE IN ATHENS.

Mr. Henry McAlpin and Miss Claude Thomas Married.

ATHENS, Ga., November 18.—[Special.]—The marriage of Mr. Henry McAlpin, of Savannah, to Miss Claude Thomas, of this city, occurred tonight at the elegant manor house of the bride's father, Major McAlpin, and was witnessed by a number of the most prominent guests which have taken place in this city for many years. The groom's best man was Mr. Francis Loney, of Baltimore, who waited with Miss Lucy Hull, of Savannah. The other attendants were Mr. A. E. Mills, of Savannah, with Miss Anna Twigs, of Augusta.

Mr. John Benedict, of Athens, with Miss Jessie Beckwith, of Atlanta; James McAlpin, of Savannah, with Miss Lizzie Dawson, of Atlanta; Mr. Asbury Hill, of Savannah, with Miss Lily Moss, of Athens; Mr. Frank Thomas, of Athens, with Miss Daisy McAlpin; Mr. Clark Howell, of Atlanta, with Miss Mary Newell, of Athens.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. W. Lane. The reception tendered the happy couple was a success, and the wedding feast was particularly numerous, costly and handsome.

The bride's loss was compensated by the Georgia Home Insurance company, and it is supposed that the dispute will go into the court. Colonel Higgins has two of the committee of arbitration on his side.

Winfield Herald: James I. Herrington, of this place, is a hard-working blacksmith, but the "gentleman of the way" has been instrumental in the perpetration of his unhappy leaving of his unfortunate spouse. Mr. Herrington says he came up to town last Friday night was a day ago to buy a gun for his wife, and when he got home found that his wife had decamped taking with her his two sons and a half defect in the pleadings, and the murderer went free. This shows the necessity of electing a good judge, and the public should be more watchful.

Colonel Higgins, of Athens, has not yet adjusted his loss with the Georgia Home Insurance company, and it is supposed that the dispute will go into the court. Colonel Higgins has two of the committee of arbitration on his side.

Winfield Herald: James I. Herrington, of this place, is a hard-working blacksmith, but the "gentleman of the way" has been instrumental in the perpetration of his unhappy leaving of his unfortunate spouse. Mr. Herrington says he came up to town last Friday night was a day ago to buy a gun for his wife, and when he got home found that his wife had decamped taking with her his two sons and a half defect in the pleadings, and the murderer went free. This shows the necessity of electing a good judge, and the public should be more watchful.

The Atlanta News, speaking of Judge Lochran's adventures a temperance lecturer.

Curious enough it is, but nevertheless, it is true that Judge Lochran's first introduction into the law was as a temperance lecturer. Some time ago he was a temperance lecturer in the place of Judge Caswell, who sits in his chair in the courtroom. The lecture was given at the same time that the issue of the Georgia Temperance lecturer had awakened a most wonderful interest in the cause of temperance. The following visiting lawyers are present: Solicitor General O. H. Rogers, of Sandersville; R. L. Town, Jr., and Wash. Roach, of Savannah; C. F. Stubbs, of Dublin; H. T. Potter, of Statesboro; H. T. Mathews, S. G. Lawrence and A. L. Lanier, of Milledgeville.

Court Week in Screen.

SALVANNAH, Ga., November 18.—[Special.]—Supernumerary convened here Monday morning Judge H. C. Rosey of the Associate circuit, presiding, in the place of Judge Caswell, who sits in his chair in the courtroom. The lecture was given at the same time that the issue of the Georgia Temperance lecturer had awakened a most wonderful interest in the cause of temperance.

The following visiting lawyers are present: Solicitor General O. H. Rogers, of Sandersville; R. L. Town, Jr., and Wash. Roach, of Savannah; C. F. Stubbs, of Dublin; H. T. Potter, of Statesboro; H. T. Mathews, S. G. Lawrence and A. L. Lanier, of Milledgeville.

Marriage in Marshayville.

MARSHAYVILLE, Ga., November 18.—[Special.]—Married at the Baptist church, Monday morning Miss Susie, daughter of Professor A. E. Beckwith, of Gwinnett county, and was married to Mr. W. H. Morris, of Gwinnett county.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. W. H. Morris, of Gwinnett county, officiating. The church was filled with relatives and friends from the home of the bride and groom.

Recorder's Court.

MACON, November 18.—[Special.]—There were only a few cases for trial at the recorder's court this morning. William Morris and John Dugay were up for trial. Thomas Powers was up for disorderly conduct, and Waino Lane was up for fighting. They were all dismissed.

Guilt and Not Guilt.

MACON, November 18.—[Special.]—Macon has a man who deals in furniture and at the same time carries on an undertaking business. Your correspondent was in his establishment this morning and inquired for news.

"There are no news," said he, "and there hasn't been any for several days; there is absolutely nothing happening."

Your correspondent asked something about what was the good news.

"If you mean in the undertaking line," said he, "it hasn't been as bad as it is at present I have been in that business in Macon for a number of years, but I have had a good deal of time when the death rate was as low as it is now, and it was not the furniture trade which was up, it was the undertaking business."

By the river, Hawkinsville is three hundred miles from Macon, while Brunswick is fully eight hundred miles away.

Recorder's Court.

MACON, November 18.—[Special.]—There were only a few cases for trial at the recorder's court this morning. William Morris and John Dugay were up for trial. Thomas Powers was up for disorderly conduct, and Waino Lane was up for fighting. They were all dismissed.

Guilt and Not Guilt.

MACON, November 18.—[Special.]—Macon has a man who deals in furniture and at the same time carries on an undertaking business. Your correspondent was in his establishment this morning and inquired for news.

"There are no news," said he, "and there hasn't been any for several days; there is absolutely nothing happening."

Your correspondent asked something about what was the good news.

"If you mean in the undertaking line," said he, "it hasn't been as bad as it is at present I have been in that business in Macon for a number of years, but I have had a good deal of time when the death rate was as low as it is now, and it was not the furniture trade which was up, it was the undertaking business."

By the river, Hawkinsville is three hundred miles from Macon, while Brunswick is fully eight hundred miles away.

Recorder's Court.

MACON, November 18.—[Special.]—There were only a few cases for trial at the recorder's court this morning. William Morris and John Dugay were up for trial. Thomas Powers was up for disorderly conduct, and Waino Lane was up for fighting. They were all dismissed.

Guilt and Not Guilt.

MACON, November 18.—[Special.]—Macon has a man who deals in furniture and at the same time carries on an undertaking business. Your correspondent was in his establishment this morning and inquired for news.

"There are no news," said he, "and there hasn't been any for several days; there is absolutely nothing happening."

Your correspondent asked something about what was the good news.

"If you mean in the undertaking line," said he, "it hasn't been as bad as it is at present I have been in that business in Macon for a number of years, but I have had a good deal of time when the death rate was as low as it is now, and it was not the furniture trade which was up, it was the undertaking business."

By the river, Hawkinsville is three hundred miles from Macon, while Brunswick is fully eight hundred miles away.

Recorder's Court.

MACON, November 18.—[Special.]—There were only a few cases for trial at the recorder's court this morning. William Morris and John Dugay were up for trial. Thomas Powers was up for disorderly conduct, and Waino Lane was up for fighting. They were all dismissed.

Guilt and Not Guilt.

MACON, November 18.—[Special.]—Macon has a man who deals in furniture and at the same time carries on an undertaking business. Your correspondent was in his establishment this morning and inquired for news.

"There are no news," said he, "and there hasn't been any for several days; there is absolutely nothing happening."

Your correspondent asked something about what was the good news.

"If you mean in the undertaking line," said he, "it hasn't been as bad as it is at present I have been in that business in Macon for a number of years, but I have had a good deal of time when the death rate was as low as it is now, and it was not the furniture trade which was up, it was the undertaking business."

By the river, Hawkinsville is three hundred miles from Macon, while Brunswick is fully eight hundred miles away.

Recorder's Court.

MACON, November 18.—[Special.]—There were only a few cases for trial at the recorder's court this morning. William Morris and John Dugay were up for trial. Thomas Powers was up for disorderly conduct, and Waino Lane was up for fighting. They were all dismissed.

Guilt and Not Guilt.

MACON, November 18.—[Special.]—Macon has a man who deals in furniture and at the same time carries on an undertaking business. Your correspondent was in his establishment this morning and inquired for news.

"There are no news," said he, "and there hasn't been any for several days; there is absolutely nothing happening."

Your correspondent asked something about what was the good news.

"If you mean in the undertaking line," said he, "it hasn't been as bad as it is at present I have been in that business in Macon for a number of years, but I have had a good deal of time when the death rate was as low as it is now, and it was not the furniture trade which was up, it was the undertaking business."

By the river, Hawkinsville is three hundred miles from Macon, while Brunswick is fully eight hundred miles away.

Recorder's Court.

MACON, November 18.—[Special.]—There were only a few cases for trial at the recorder's court this morning. William Morris and John Dugay were up for trial. Thomas Powers was up for disorderly conduct, and Waino Lane was up for fighting. They were all dismissed.

Guilt and Not Guilt.

MACON, November 18.—[Special.]—Macon has a man who deals in furniture and at the same time carries on an undertaking business. Your correspondent was in his establishment this morning and inquired for news.

"There are no news," said he, "and there hasn't been any for several days; there is absolutely nothing happening."

Your correspondent asked something about what was the good news.

"If you mean in the undertaking line," said he, "it hasn't been as bad as it is at present I have been in that business in Macon for a number of years, but I have had a good deal of time when the death rate was as low as it is now, and it was not the furniture trade which was up, it was the undertaking business."

THE CONSTITUTION

Published Daily and Weekly.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA.

THE DAILY CONSTITUTION IS PUBLISHED EVERY DAY IN THE WEEK, AND IS DELIVERED BY CARRIERS IN THE CITY, MAILED POSTAGE FREE, AT $1 PER MONTH, $12 FOR THREE MONTHS, OR $10 A YEAR.

THE CONSTITUTION IS FOR SALE ON ALL TRAINS LEADING OUT OF ATLANTA, AND AT NEWS STANDS IN THE PRINCIPAL SOUTHERN CITIES.

ADVERTISING RATE DEPENDS ON LOCATION IN THE PAPER, AND WILL BE FURNISHED ON APPLICATION.

CORRESPONDENCE CONTAINING IMPORTANT NEWS SOLICITED FROM ALL PARTS OF THE COUNTRY.

ADDRESSE ALL LETTERS AND TELEGRAMS, AND MAKE ALL DRAFTS OR CHECKS PAYABLE TO

THE CONSTITUTION,
Atlanta, Ga.

ATLANTA, NOVEMBER 19, 1885.

INDICATIONS: For the South Atlantic states, taken at 1 a.m.—Local rains, followed by fair, generally colder, weather; winds generally shifting to northwesterly. For the East Gulf states, fair, slightly colder, weather; winds generally shifting to northwesterly.

In the very first engagement between the Servians and Bulgarians, Generals Michkovitch, Petrovitch, Jankovitch, Topalovitch and Jowanovitch distinguished themselves. There was very little bloodshed, but about 250,000 Americans were wounded in the jay while they were peacefully reading an account of the battle.

RICHARD BISSELL, an old citizen of Cincinnati, died nine months ago that his death would occur during the present fall. He lost no time in filing in the Enquirer office the prediction of his death with a sketch of his life. Last Monday the old man was apparently in good health, but while standing in a hotel office suddenly fell dead.

The pig-iron manufacturers of Pennsylvania are again meeting and conspiring against southern iron. As things stand they acknowledge their helplessness to compete with southern pig-iron in markets which they consider naturally their own. They see no light ahead unless their railroads will discriminate in their favor, and make rates, so far as they can, against the south. Linershippers, they cry out, must be protected. They will find that railroad rates cannot be made that will put Pennsylvania iron-makers on a footing with those of Georgia and Alabama.

The rates charged for the use of telephones a year varies in this country from $6 in Richmond, Va., to $120 in Philadelphia. There are many local companies, but all pay tribute to the Bell company, which has fought or negotiated all other patents out of the field. The number of instruments in use is very large. New York, Brooklyn and Jersey City have together 9,000 instruments, Chicago 5,500, next comes Buffalo with 3,200, while Philadelphia has 3,000, Cincinnati 2,700, and Boston 2,100. Rochester, where the charges are about the same as at Buffalo, has but $55. The charges at Buffalo are given as from $50 to $110. In proportion to population Buffalo has a larger number of instruments than any other city in the country.

SHAMS.

There are some odious democratic newspapers which, unable to appreciate independence of opinion, are continually sitting in judgment on the utterances of journals which have the good of the country and party at heart without regard to individuals. For instance, THE CONSTITUTION and some other democratic journals, have taken occasion to criticize the sham civil service reform instituted under a republican administration, and to insist that the democrats cannot afford to endorse it; whereupon the Courier-Journal and papers of its kidney, make haste to announce that this denunciation of sham civil service reform is nothing less than an attack on President Cleveland's administration.

Such silliness as this is not western in its variety. There are other papers that echo the views of the Courier-Journal, and though the echo is altogether perfidious, it indicates a lamentable state of ignorance. For the truth is, that the very condition of affairs against which THE CONSTITUTION has been protesting, has appealed so powerfully to the conscience of the president that he has deemed it his duty to reorganize the civil service commission on a democratic basis.

We have not undertaken to formally criticize the civil service law, though undoubtedly it is open to very grave objections; we have merely contended that civil service reform should take the shape of genuine civil service and appoint other republicans to vacancies.

If it is criticizing a democratic administration to protest against the sham reform instituted by the Dorman B. Eaton commission, then we unhesitatingly enter a plea of guilty; for the sole purpose of the Eaton commission was to keep republicans in office and appoint other republicans to vacancies.

We are of the opinion, however, that Mr. Cleveland has sympathized with every sentiment expressed by THE CONSTITUTION in this particular direction; for he is wise enough to know that his administration will be a democratic administration unless it is supported by officials who will unhesitatingly undertake to put in practice and carry out democratic principles. This is the test, and it will remain the test long after sham civil service reform has been forgotten.

If the will of the people is to be carried out, the country must have democratic civil service reform, and when that is put in operation, we shall have complaints only from the disreputable republicans who have been displaced to make room for honest and competent democrats.

THE CONSTITUTION and the people are depending on the strong common sense of the president, not only to interpret the law as it should be interpreted, but to give to the country a thoroughly democratic administration.

DEPOSITORS OF NATIONAL BANKS.

A new scheme in the interest of the national banks looks to making depositors as secure as note-holders. Instead of asking congress to repeal the tax on circulation, it is proposed to retain it, and to use the proceeds of the tax to create a fund to meet all proved claims of depositors against insolvent national banks. As soon as the fund reaches $20,000,000 the tax is to be repealed, subject to revival if the fund falls below $15,000,000. It is believed the tax on circulation will be ample for the purpose mentioned, and that depositors of national banks will be made as secure as any guarantee on this earth can make them.

The scheme is a very plausible one; but when its operation is considered it will be found to be a bill to encourage loose banking methods, to destroy all state banks, and to still further concentrate the moneyed power of the country in the general government.

The first objection must command itself to every business man. If note-holders and depositors are alike secure against loss, who does not know that the ambitious and unprincipled banker will ignore his stockholders if he sees, or thinks he sees, an opening to use the funds of the bank in speculative operations? Carelessness in supervision and reckless management will follow any decrease in responsibility. The bank officer dreads the anger and suffering of duped depositors, many of whom will be ruined in case of trouble in the bank; but he would not let the interests of a handful of over-rich stockholders stay his speculative tendencies. The other two objections are equally sound; and congress will doubtless hesitate to put upon the people duties and responsibilities that should be borne by the banks that enjoy a large range of privileges and opportunities.

THE ENGLISH ELECTIONS.

Neither party is very confident at this stage of the English canvas for members of parliament. But it should not be forgotten that the liberals are fighting for a clear majority of the house of commons, while the conservatives hope to secure enough to make a majority when reinforced by the parliamentarians. This fact alone shows that the liberals consider themselves entitled to the control of the government, although they are not a little nervous over the coming vote.

The next house of commons will contain 670 members, or 18 more than before the passage of the redistribution bill. The party that wins 330 seats will control. The liberal strength in the late house was 375.

From this number must be deducted the 40 seats that Mr. Parnell will control.

To be sure the liberals must gain about 40 seats in Scotland and England. They will probably gain one-third of that number in Scotland, but it is doubtful whether they can gain 20 seats in England. Prediction is, however, very unsafe, because no one knows how the two million of new voters will cast their ballots.

The Tories now hold 205 seats. They expect to gain 70 seats in England, and with the parliamentarians, to retain control of the house and the cabinet. The liberals need from 23 to 25 seats to win control; the conservatives to 20.

The White Ribbon Women.

PHILADELPHIA, November 6.—Editors Constitution: The twelfth annual meeting of the national Women's Christian Temperance union has just closed its session in this city. There were 294 delegates from forty states and territories, and these, with the visitors, filled the building.

Miss Frances Willard presided at all the sessions.

Her address to the convention touches some interesting topics, such as the temperance movement, which more surely bears the stamp of this wondrous woman than her brave words concerning the suppression of intemperance.

Reports full of interest were made by the national organizers and superintendents of departments. There had been good results accomplished in the line of work.

The entertainments will be given under the auspices of the ladies of St. Philip's church. All are invited. The price of tickets is fifty cents. The entertainment will be opened at eight o'clock, and every one should be on hand as early as possible, will be a picture of beauty and delightfulness.

THE SAME OLD FIGHT.

A report comes across the water that seven hundred parliamentary candidates in Great Britain are pledged to vote for the deceased wife's Sister Bill.

For the last forty or fifty years this has been a ridiculous but live issue in English politics. Just because it is forbidden, nearly every man in the kingdom seems to be smitten with an insatiable desire to marry the sister of his dead wife. As the years roll on popular excitement increases. Many Englishmen evade the law by marrying and living abroad, but this is too inconvenient to satisfy the majority.

The agitation of the question has undoubtedly won public opinion over to the side of the unfortunate who are prohibited from marrying the object of their affections, and the house of commons naturally reflects the sentiment of the people. The obstacles to the passage of the bill is to be found in the upper house.

The lords are considerably divided, but they have thus far defeated the measure every time.

It is not possible to disappoint the piteous widows and their sisters-in-law much longer. If necessary, they will resolve themselves into an insidious society of anti-prohibits and bring the entire weight of their moral and social influence to bear upon the obstinate lords who stand in the way of orange blossoms, etc. The delay in securing the desired legislation has been annoying and mortifying to the advocates of this great reform, but in the end they will surely win.

In the meantime much trouble would be saved if Englishmen would marry their second choice.

THE NEW ORLEANS MARKET is flooded with green peas, showing that the usefulness of the family planter extends even into the winter months.

SOME OF OUR EASTERN EXCHANGES have ceased to discuss Monroe, and are now quarreling over the first Napoleon.

THE REPUBLICAN EDITORS ought not to be frightened at the cold south. It means simply justice and good government.

M. CYRUS W. FIELD, having had his Andrew Jackson blow up, is now prepared to meet the forces who will unhesitatingly undertake to put in practice and carry out democratic principles. This is the test, and it will remain the test long after sham civil service reform has been forgotten.

If the will of the people is to be carried out, the country must have democratic civil service reform, and when that is put in operation, we shall have complaints only from the disreputable republicans who have been displaced to make room for honest and competent democrats.

THE CONSTITUTION and the people are depending on the strong common sense of the president, not only to interpret the law as it should be interpreted, but to give to the country a thoroughly democratic administration.

GENERAL FARRAR's lectures have set the people to thinking. We have great scholars among our clergy, but it is a rare thing to find a minister like Farrar who is as well informed in literary art, science, music and painting as he is concerning the love of his own profession.

WHEN ONE OF OUR NATIONALIZED GERMAN CITIZENS pays a visit to his native land he is liable to arrest and compelled to serve in the army. Recently our government has protested, but Bismarck grins sardonically and the outrages continue. That is not so bad after all. To be sentenced to jail "without labor" is one of the few ways an editor can get a vacation in this world.

ONE OF THE FEW WAYS.

The following is a close estimate of the capital and incomes of four persons who are said to be the four richest men in the world:

DUKE OF WESTMINSTER, Capital, $66,000,000.

DR. J. H. H. POWELL, Capital, $4,000,000.

MR. SAMUEL H. MORSE, Capital, $3,000,000.

DR. J. C. DALE, Capital, $10,000.

DR. J. C. DALE, Capital, $500.

ROBERTS, Capital, $7.

ROBERTS, Capital, $200,000,000.

ROBERTS, Capital, $10,000,000.

ROBERTS, Capital, $10,000.

CONSTITUTIONALS.

General Gossip and Editorial Short Stops.

Caught on the Run.

There were about twelve of them gathered at Little Depot a few miles from Atlanta. A tall, hony fellow, with shaggy hair and a flabby hat, hung close up under his chin. A very boy faced but very humble looking boy wrapped up in a red shawl. Two or three other men, and two or three other ladies were in the group. There was a platoon of "brats" and some young women, and some middle-aged women, and some women who were so old and wrinkled, that their peaceful eyes seemed to be waiting and watching for the last sunset. Who were they? Oh, nobody. Only a squad of emigrants for Texas. "Railroad!" screamed a boy. A black smoke burst up over a hill. A train came thundering up and down the track. A big boy in the crowd who sat nervously and hissed batted his eye. He took a crumpled rag out of his pocket and wiped the tears of his eyes like a bookkeeper blots up a true drop of ink. There was a commotion and a great deal of hurried kissing, especially of babies. Tears rained over little faded shawls and there were a great many red eyes and many red noses visible. Half the grown folks and most of the babies got aboard and pressed into the cars. The engine moved off impatiently and unmercifully. Dim old eyes beside the track watched the train as it bore away son or daughter, or brother or sister or little grandbabies, going to a distant land, to be seen again, perhaps, never!

"Beaver!" That was the badge that alarmed the empty bosom of a strange looking animal hanging tail downward in front of a Peacock meal store yesterday.

Mr. Bob Faurot bought him for three dollars and a half.

"That tall," he remarked, pointing to a plump piece of fat as big as a man's two hands. "That tall will make soup for four hundred people."

"What are you going to do with the balance of him?"

"Burke him."

"Take off all the surplus fat, baste him with molasses, put on a small amount of salt, pepper, pepper-cook him by an easy fire until he is well done. Serve him cold with celery salad."

"Is it good?"

"This one is good. Beaver is good only when you can get two days of cold weather on him. When that is the case and the cold has taken the animal heat and the wild taste that accompanies it the beaver meat tastes very much like the meat of a young bear."

The beaver was caught in Murray county and is the only one that has come to Atlanta this season.

Judge Strong makes the following important suggestion:

"See the city council has decided to give the police department a patrol wagon. That is a move in the right direction. A master equally important, and on the same line, should now be considered by the commissioners. Why not give the sheriff some sort of a wagon in which to transport from the courthouse to the jail and back again the various prisoners who now every day march in and out twice a day. It is an unpleasant sight to see these manacled criminals going along the sidewalks and meeting ladies and children. Besides that it is dangerous. Judge Hammond has long studied the matter and is very much in favor of such a wagon as I suggest."

At the county courthouse a very thorough test has been made of woman's ability to do clerical work. In John Strong's office, the women are engaged for a year working on the records, and their work is without a blemish. Mr. George Foster says a lady will do more work of that kind in a day than a man will do. Ordinary Calhoun has one lady clerk, and after testing the master thoroughly, says he is greatly pleased. He says ladies are exceedingly steady, make no mistakes and he considers them peculiarly fitted for office writing.

Yesterday Ordinary Calhoun said:

"We ought to keep in mind this voting question and see that the next session of the legislature passes a law for the relief of Atlanta. The city ought to have at least a voting place for each ward, and if there were more than that it would be just that much better. The best way out of this trouble is to have a special bill authorizing the county commissioners to establish as many voting places in the county as there are precincts. This would also do away with a clerical. Where there is not such a place to vote and crowds are not so great, the managers and clerks have a better chance to do their work well, and it is much easier to get a full, fair and free expression of the public will."

There is one thing about the voting places that does not appear to be understood clearly by many people. A voter can cast his ballot at any precinct in the county that he chooses. The division of the names will not be between the different precincts but each precinct will have a fall list. The division of the names will be between the different managers at each precinct.

SIDEWALK TALKS.

Mr. John Stevens—Sunday next the head of police commissioners will publish a resolution in the CONSTITUTION asking all saloons and wholesale liquor houses to close their doors from Tuesday night till Thursday morning. I learn the division of the names will be between the different managers at each precinct.

Clerk R. F. Minter says the blue badges and the red badges remind him of the days of secession. The people were blue badges in those days, and the leaders stirred up patriotism with the drum and the rifle. The colonel says the men in those days who were the biggest badges managed unanimously to stay at home the longest. In this battle it may be different.

An enthusiastic prohibitionist has employed two young attorneys to prepare a suit of those persons who have been convicted of crime by the courts. This will be done with a view of stopping such from voting as are not qualified voters under the law. Verily this is to the knif.

JOHN MURPHY ARRESTED.

A Book Agent Followed to Atlanta by His Wife's Troubles.

John Murphy, a handsome young book agent, was followed to Atlanta by police headquarters all day yesterday.

Murphy's arrest was due to a telegram from a lady in Philadelphia. Murphy is a married man. Several weeks ago he married a Miss McCoy in Pennsylvania. At the time of his marriage he was a boy and his mother and when he and his wife came to Atlanta his wife's home she brought away a sum of money. Murphy appears to have been a man of means. He and his wife, Mrs. McCoy married Murphy against her family's desire and when she left her home he kept an eye on them. After leaving home he and his wife came to the city where they have been about two weeks. Since reaching Atlanta they have been stopping at a boarding house on Loyd street.

A few days ago a relative of Mrs. Murphy's came to Atlanta. Murphy and his wife was caught by a letter he had written home asking for money. The day after he was arrested he called on Captain Moon, the police chief, and told him the marriage and of Murphy and his wife. The relative gave his name as McCoy and asked Captain Moon to release him. Captain Moon agreed to do so but during the time he was trying to do this about the time he was arrested he was arrested. On Tuesday night Captain Moon telegraphed Miss Snyder, asking her if she wanted to see him. Captain Moon wired to her to meet him at the Calhoun street bridge. She will arrive at the Calhoun street bridge and will prove another aster between Murphy and his wife.

The work is completed, and when the street on both sides of the railroad are in possible condition, the bridge will be opened for travel."

Mr. J. M. Mahoney, sixth ward councilman:

"The Calhoun street bridge will prove another aster between Murphy and his wife."

The work is completed, and when the street on both sides of the railroad are in possible condition, the bridge will be opened for travel."

Mr. W. F. Slade, superintendent of the public schools—The schools never moved more smoothly than now. I have just concluded my weekly round and found every thing in good shape. The schools are full and about two hundred applicants came to the school office, but the opening of the school and the additions at Calhoun street school and the additions at Loyd street.

A few days ago a relative of Mrs. Murphy's came to Atlanta. Murphy and his wife was caught by a letter he had written home asking for money. The day after he was arrested he called on Captain Moon, the police chief, and told him the marriage and of Murphy and his wife. The relative gave his name as McCoy and asked Captain Moon to release him. Captain Moon agreed to do so but during the time he was trying to do this about the time he was arrested he was arrested. On Tuesday night Captain Moon telegraphed Miss Snyder, asking her if she wanted to see him. Captain Moon wired to her to meet him at the Calhoun street bridge. She will arrive at the Calhoun street bridge and will prove another aster between Murphy and his wife."

Mr. W. F. Slade, superintendent of the public schools—The schools never moved more smoothly than now. I have just concluded my weekly round and found every thing in good shape. The schools are full and about two hundred applicants came to the school office, but the opening of the school and the additions at Calhoun street school and the additions at Loyd street.

A few days ago a relative of Mrs. Murphy's came to Atlanta. Murphy and his wife was caught by a letter he had written home asking for money. The day after he was arrested he called on Captain Moon, the police chief, and told him the marriage and of Murphy and his wife. The relative gave his name as McCoy and asked Captain Moon to release him. Captain Moon agreed to do so but during the time he was trying to do this about the time he was arrested he was arrested. On Tuesday night Captain Moon telegraphed Miss Snyder, asking her if she wanted to see him. Captain Moon wired to her to meet him at the Calhoun street bridge. She will arrive at the Calhoun street bridge and will prove another aster between Murphy and his wife."

Mr. W. F. Slade, superintendent of the public schools—The schools never moved more smoothly than now. I have just concluded my weekly round and found every thing in good shape. The schools are full and about two hundred applicants came to the school office, but the opening of the school and the additions at Calhoun street school and the additions at Loyd street.

A few days ago a relative of Mrs. Murphy's came to Atlanta. Murphy and his wife was caught by a letter he had written home asking for money. The day after he was arrested he called on Captain Moon, the police chief, and told him the marriage and of Murphy and his wife. The relative gave his name as McCoy and asked Captain Moon to release him. Captain Moon agreed to do so but during the time he was trying to do this about the time he was arrested he was arrested. On Tuesday night Captain Moon telegraphed Miss Snyder, asking her if she wanted to see him. Captain Moon wired to her to meet him at the Calhoun street bridge. She will arrive at the Calhoun street bridge and will prove another aster between Murphy and his wife."

Mr. W. F. Slade, superintendent of the public schools—The schools never moved more smoothly than now. I have just concluded my weekly round and found every thing in good shape. The schools are full and about two hundred applicants came to the school office, but the opening of the school and the additions at Calhoun street school and the additions at Loyd street.

A few days ago a relative of Mrs. Murphy's came to Atlanta. Murphy and his wife was caught by a letter he had written home asking for money. The day after he was arrested he called on Captain Moon, the police chief, and told him the marriage and of Murphy and his wife. The relative gave his name as McCoy and asked Captain Moon to release him. Captain Moon agreed to do so but during the time he was trying to do this about the time he was arrested he was arrested. On Tuesday night Captain Moon telegraphed Miss Snyder, asking her if she wanted to see him. Captain Moon wired to her to meet him at the Calhoun street bridge. She will arrive at the Calhoun street bridge and will prove another aster between Murphy and his wife."

Mr. W. F. Slade, superintendent of the public schools—The schools never moved more smoothly than now. I have just concluded my weekly round and found every thing in good shape. The schools are full and about two hundred applicants came to the school office, but the opening of the school and the additions at Calhoun street school and the additions at Loyd street.

A few days ago a relative of Mrs. Murphy's came to Atlanta. Murphy and his wife was caught by a letter he had written home asking for money. The day after he was arrested he called on Captain Moon, the police chief, and told him the marriage and of Murphy and his wife. The relative gave his name as McCoy and asked Captain Moon to release him. Captain Moon agreed to do so but during the time he was trying to do this about the time he was arrested he was arrested. On Tuesday night Captain Moon telegraphed Miss Snyder, asking her if she wanted to see him. Captain Moon wired to her to meet him at the Calhoun street bridge. She will arrive at the Calhoun street bridge and will prove another aster between Murphy and his wife."

Mr. W. F. Slade, superintendent of the public schools—The schools never moved more smoothly than now. I have just concluded my weekly round and found every thing in good shape. The schools are full and about two hundred applicants came to the school office, but the opening of the school and the additions at Calhoun street school and the additions at Loyd street.

A few days ago a relative of Mrs. Murphy's came to Atlanta. Murphy and his wife was caught by a letter he had written home asking for money. The day after he was arrested he called on Captain Moon, the police chief, and told him the marriage and of Murphy and his wife. The relative gave his name as McCoy and asked Captain Moon to release him. Captain Moon agreed to do so but during the time he was trying to do this about the time he was arrested he was arrested. On Tuesday night Captain Moon telegraphed Miss Snyder, asking her if she wanted to see him. Captain Moon wired to her to meet him at the Calhoun street bridge. She will arrive at the Calhoun street bridge and will prove another aster between Murphy and his wife."

Mr. W. F. Slade, superintendent of the public schools—The schools never moved more smoothly than now. I have just concluded my weekly round and found every thing in good shape. The schools are full and about two hundred applicants came to the school office, but the opening of the school and the additions at Calhoun street school and the additions at Loyd street.

A few days ago a relative of Mrs. Murphy's came to Atlanta. Murphy and his wife was caught by a letter he had written home asking for money. The day after he was arrested he called on Captain Moon, the police chief, and told him the marriage and of Murphy and his wife. The relative gave his name as McCoy and asked Captain Moon to release him. Captain Moon agreed to do so but during the time he was trying to do this about the time he was arrested he was arrested. On Tuesday night Captain Moon telegraphed Miss Snyder, asking her if she wanted to see him. Captain Moon wired to her to meet him at the Calhoun street bridge. She will arrive at the Calhoun street bridge and will prove another aster between Murphy and his wife."

Mr. W. F. Slade, superintendent of the public schools—The schools never moved more smoothly than now. I have just concluded my weekly round and found every thing in good shape. The schools are full and about two hundred applicants came to the school office, but the opening of the school and the additions at Calhoun street school and the additions at Loyd street.

A few days ago a relative of Mrs. Murphy's came to Atlanta. Murphy and his wife was caught by a letter he had written home asking for money. The day after he was arrested he called on Captain Moon, the police chief, and told him the marriage and of Murphy and his wife. The relative gave his name as McCoy and asked Captain Moon to release him. Captain Moon agreed to do so but during the time he was trying to do this about the time he was arrested he was arrested. On Tuesday night Captain Moon telegraphed Miss Snyder, asking her if she wanted to see him. Captain Moon wired to her to meet him at the Calhoun street bridge. She will arrive at the Calhoun street bridge and will prove another aster between Murphy and his wife."

Mr. W. F. Slade, superintendent of the public schools—The schools never moved more smoothly than now. I have just concluded my weekly round and found every thing in good shape. The schools are full and about two hundred applicants came to the school office, but the opening of the school and the additions at Calhoun street school and the additions at Loyd street.

A few days ago a relative of Mrs. Murphy's came to Atlanta. Murphy and his wife was caught by a letter he had written home asking for money. The day after he was arrested he called on Captain Moon, the police chief, and told him the marriage and of Murphy and his wife. The relative gave his name as McCoy and asked Captain Moon to release him. Captain Moon agreed to do so but during the time he was trying to do this about the time he was arrested he was arrested. On Tuesday night Captain Moon telegraphed Miss Snyder, asking her if she wanted to see him. Captain Moon wired to her to meet him at the Calhoun street bridge. She will arrive at the Calhoun street bridge and will prove another aster between Murphy and his wife."

Mr. W. F. Slade, superintendent of the public schools—The schools never moved more smoothly than now. I have just concluded my weekly round and found every thing in good shape. The schools are full and about two hundred applicants came to the school office, but the opening of the school and the additions at Calhoun street school and the additions at Loyd street.

A few days ago a relative of Mrs. Murphy's came to Atlanta. Murphy and his wife was caught by a letter he had written home asking for money. The day after he was arrested he called on Captain Moon, the police chief, and told him the marriage and of Murphy and his wife. The relative gave his name as McCoy and asked Captain Moon to release him. Captain Moon agreed to do so but during the time he was trying to do this about the time he was arrested he was arrested. On Tuesday night Captain Moon telegraphed Miss Snyder, asking her if she wanted to see him. Captain Moon wired to her to meet him at the Calhoun street bridge. She will arrive at the Calhoun street bridge and will prove another aster between Murphy and his wife."

Mr. W. F. Slade, superintendent of the public schools—The schools never moved more smoothly than now. I have just concluded my weekly round and found every thing in good shape. The schools are full and about two hundred applicants came to the school office, but the opening of the school and the additions at Calhoun street school and the additions at Loyd street.

A few days ago a relative of Mrs. Murphy's came to Atlanta. Murphy and his wife was caught by a letter he had written home asking for money. The day after he was arrested he called on Captain Moon, the police chief, and told him the marriage and of Murphy and his wife. The relative gave his name as McCoy and asked Captain Moon to release him. Captain Moon agreed to do so but during the time he was trying to do this about the time he was arrested he was arrested. On Tuesday night Captain Moon telegraphed Miss Snyder, asking her if she wanted to see him. Captain Moon wired to her to meet him at the Calhoun street bridge. She will arrive at the Calhoun street bridge and will prove another aster between Murphy and his wife."

Mr. W. F. Slade, superintendent of the public schools—The schools never moved more smoothly than now. I have just concluded my weekly round and found every thing in good shape. The schools are full and about two hundred applicants came to the school office, but the opening of the school and the additions at Calhoun street school and the additions at Loyd street.

A few days ago a relative of Mrs. Murphy's came to Atlanta. Murphy and his wife was caught by a letter he had written home asking for money. The day after he was arrested he called on Captain Moon, the police chief, and told him the marriage and of Murphy and his wife. The relative gave his name as McCoy and asked Captain Moon to release him. Captain Moon agreed to do so but during the time he was trying to do this about the time he was arrested he was arrested. On Tuesday night Captain Moon telegraphed Miss Snyder, asking her if she wanted to see him. Captain Moon wired to her to meet him at the Calhoun street bridge. She will arrive at the Calhoun street bridge and will prove another aster between Murphy and his wife."

Mr. W. F. Slade, superintendent of the public schools—The schools never moved more smoothly than now. I have just concluded my weekly round and found every thing in good shape. The schools are full and about two hundred applicants came to the school office, but the opening of the school and the additions at Calhoun street school and the additions at Loyd street.

A few days ago a relative of Mrs. Murphy's came to Atlanta. Murphy and his wife was caught by a letter he had written home asking for money. The day after he was arrested he called on Captain Moon, the police chief, and told him the marriage and of Murphy and his wife. The relative gave his name as McCoy and asked Captain Moon to release him. Captain Moon agreed to do so but during the time he was trying to do this about the time he was arrested he was arrested. On Tuesday night Captain Moon telegraphed Miss Snyder, asking her if she wanted to see him. Captain Moon wired to her to meet him at the Calhoun street bridge. She will arrive at the Calhoun street bridge and will prove another aster between Murphy and his wife."

Mr. W. F. Slade, superintendent of the public schools—The schools never moved more smoothly than now. I have just concluded my weekly round and found every thing in good shape. The schools are full and about two hundred applicants came to the school office, but the opening of the school and the additions at Calhoun street school and the additions at Loyd street.

A few days ago a relative of Mrs. Murphy's came to Atlanta. Murphy and his wife was caught by a letter he had written home asking for money. The day after he was arrested he called on Captain Moon, the police chief, and told him the marriage and of Murphy and his wife. The relative gave his name as McCoy and asked Captain Moon to release him. Captain Moon agreed to do so but during the time he was trying to do this about the time he was arrested he was arrested. On Tuesday night Captain Moon telegraphed Miss Snyder, asking her if she wanted to see him. Captain Moon wired to her to meet him at the Calhoun street bridge. She will arrive at the Calhoun street bridge and will prove another aster between Murphy and his wife."

Mr. W. F. Slade, superintendent of the public schools—The schools never moved more smoothly than now. I have just concluded my weekly round and found every thing in good shape. The schools are full and about two hundred applicants came to the school office, but the opening of the school and the additions at Calhoun street school and the additions at Loyd street.

A few days ago a relative of Mrs. Murphy's came to Atlanta. Murphy and his wife was caught by a letter he had written home asking for money. The day after he was arrested he called on Captain Moon, the police chief, and told him the marriage and of Murphy and his wife. The relative gave his name as McCoy and asked Captain Moon to release him. Captain Moon agreed to do so but during the time he was trying to do this about the time he was arrested he was arrested. On Tuesday night Captain Moon telegraphed Miss Snyder, asking her if she wanted to see him. Captain Moon wired to her to meet him at the Calhoun street bridge. She will arrive at the Calhoun street bridge and will prove another aster between Murphy and his wife."

Mr. W. F. Slade, superintendent of the public schools—The schools never moved more smoothly than now. I have just concluded my weekly round and found every thing in good shape. The schools are full and about two hundred applicants came to the school office, but the opening of the school and the additions at Calhoun street school and the additions at Loyd street.

A few days ago a relative of Mrs. Murphy's came to Atlanta. Murphy and his wife was caught by a letter he had written home asking for money. The day after he was arrested he called on Captain Moon, the police chief, and told him the marriage and of Murphy and his wife. The relative gave his name as McCoy and asked Captain Moon to release him. Captain Moon agreed to do so but during the time he was trying to do this about the time he was arrested he was arrested. On Tuesday night Captain Moon telegraphed Miss Snyder, asking her if she wanted to see him. Captain Moon wired to her to meet him at the Calhoun street bridge. She will arrive at the Calhoun street bridge and will prove another aster between Murphy and his wife."

Mr. W. F. Slade, superintendent of the public schools—The schools never moved more smoothly than now. I have just concluded my weekly round and found every thing in good shape. The schools are full and about two hundred applicants came to the school office, but the opening of the school and the additions at Calhoun street school and the additions at Loyd street.

A few days ago a relative of Mrs. Murphy's came to Atlanta. Murphy and his wife was caught by a letter he had written home asking for money. The day after he was arrested he

